2. CITATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Claims 1, 4-18, 20-21, 23, 25-28, 35-36, 38-42 and 44-48 lack novelty under PCT Article 33(2) as being anticipated by Abeta (EP 1128592 A).

Claims Please See Continuation Sheet

Abea discloses a system for transmitting a coded data stream for providing a stream of data symbols to a spreader for spreading the data symbol with a spreading code and providing the spread data to HFT to generate an OFDM symbols and scaling the OFDM symbols with a gain for transmitting to the receiver in order to recover the data stream (See Figs 2-4, 18 and 21 and Page 1, lines 713, need, 6, lines 450 page 8, lines 57, page 10, lines 450 page 11, lines 110.

Chima 2.3, 19, 2.2, 24, 31-34, 37 and 43 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Abeai in view of Yaru (USP 555990). Abeai fails is disclose the function suck as the scaled OFPM symbols is covered by another code and appending a cyclic prefit to the symbol and adjusting the transmission power. In the same field of endeavor, Yano discloses a system for covering the encoded data with a cover code and adjusting the transmission power before transmitting the data (See Cd. 1, lines 9-14, col. 2, lines 12 to col. 4, lines 19 to col. 4, line 50 and Fig 1-2 and 4). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary slid! in the act to apply the teach of Yano into Abes's system.

Claims 39-30 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over A beta in view of Helard (WO 01/2084). Abeta fails to disclose the despreading coefficients are derived based in part of weights of the estimated channel response based on pilot signal. Helard discloses the despreading coefficients are derived based in part of weights of the estimated channel response based on pilot signal (See Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to apply the teaching of Helard into Abeta's system.
